ABOUT CONCORDIA

Cross Sector Partnerships for Market Based Solutions

Concordia is a registered 501(c)(3) nonprofit, nonpartisan organization dedicated to actively fostering, elevating, and sustaining cross-sector partnerships for social impact. Concordia was founded in 2011 by Matthew A. Swift and Nicholas M. Logothetis.

MISSION

Concordia is a member-based organization dedicated to actively fostering, elevating, and sustaining cross-sector partnerships for social impact.

VISION

Concordia aims to create a global community where challenges are solved collaboratively and inclusively.

OUR HISTORY

In the summer of 2011, friends and business partners Nick Logothetis and Matthew Swift had an idea for convening thought leaders in the midst of the 10th anniversary of 9/11 to discuss the importance of partnerships in combatting extremism. Since then, Concordia has grown towards a belief that P3s are a fundamental tool to addressing many societal challenges. Concordia recognizes that cross-sector collaboration offers effective solutions.

PAST INTERN TESTIMONIES

Daniel Garcia

Pomona College

Partnerships Intern

“Working at Concordia was one of the more trying, but most irreplaceable professional experiences I could've asked for. There was a lot of work to be done, but I've gained special insight into cross-sectoral partnership development and social impact work that has been invaluable.”

Tatiana Lieberman

Cornell University

Partnerships Intern

“I did not know a lot about working in a non-profit start-up environment coming into this, and I feel that each day I learn something new. So far, I've learned how to work at a fast pace and how to meet deadlines, but Concordia has also taught me how to interact with people at a higher status level and be respectful no matter what the situation is. We're a small team that has a lot of impact.”

Minty Pham

Brown University

Communications Intern

“Dynamic, fast-paced, and jam-packed with meaningful learning experiences, my internship at Concordia has helped me grow in so many ways. I'm grateful to Concordia for pushing me to be a more effective communicator and a more rigorous strategic thinker, and I remain deeply inspired by the wholeheartedness and enthusiasm of everyone I worked with.”
